We believe that local service should also mean excellent service.

Experienced local support is vital to ensure the service we offer is of the highest level. This is why only Dexion approved centres are authorised to supply and offer advice on Dexion products.

All our approved centres have undergone extensive training and have the expertise to provide technical design and support for your storage requirements. Whether you require a rack inspection, have a spares enquiry or wish to design a new warehouse we have an approved centre near you.

Our local Dexion stockists network enables you to access Dexion products quickly with speedy delivery from a stock holding of our popular storage systems.

We are very proud of our heritage and the Dexion Distributors are too. Brysdales in the North of England has been a Dexion distributor for over 40 years.
